Who we are

The British Veterinary Dermatology Study Group (BVDSG) has a long history of providing high quality veterinary Continuous Professional Development (CPD) for vets with an interest in veterinary dermatology.

We are approximately 300 members drawn from private veterinary practice, university veterinary schools and industry.

Join us

Skin disease is very common in animals, especially small animals, so it is important for veterinary professionals to be up to date in all aspects of dermatology.

BVDSG membership helps you achieve this goal, whether you are in general practice, you have, or are studying towards a further qualification in the field.

Membership advantages include:

- ▶ Discounts on attending our twice yearly meetings
- ▶ Digital copies of our DermNews, a twice yearly newsletter
- ▶ Digital copies of the proceedings of the meetings whether you attend or not

Current subscription rate is £30.00 per annum.

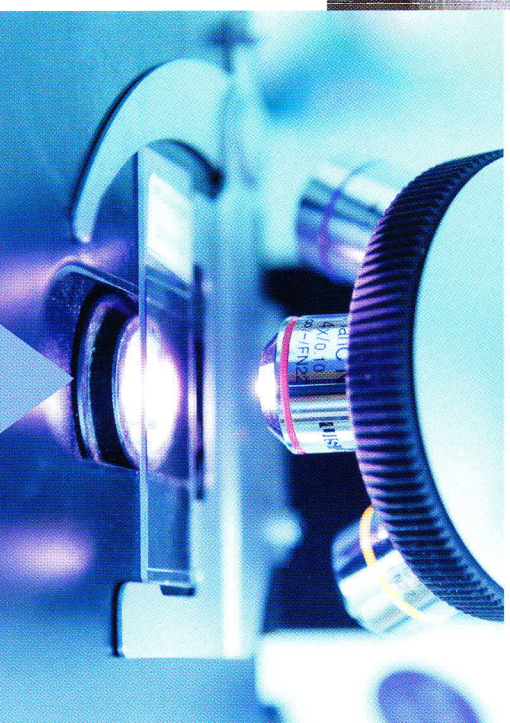

If you would like to join please send an email to the treasurer at treasurer@bvds.org.uk with the subject "Membership". When your eligibility has been confirmed, you will be provided with a log-in to proceed.

What we do

The aims of the British Veterinary Dermatology Study Group are to study and advance the standards of veterinary dermatology in all animals.

Annual Meetings

The BVDSG holds two annual meetings – a day meeting prior to the main British Small Animal Veterinary Association (BSAVA) meeting in April, and a weekend meeting usually in November.

Both meetings attract eminent speakers from home and abroad, covering all aspects of comparative veterinary and human dermatology.

Members also have an opportunity to present their own work and findings at each meeting.
